Named after Rhinebeck Farmers' Market founder John Honey, this annual scholarship is intended to support the education and future success of a student who is dedicated to promoting local agriculture and enhancing the social, economic, and environmental sustainability of the Hudson Valley. The Jeff Scales scholarship for community advocacy was established by the Rhinebeck Farmers' Market and Long Wave Financial in 2023 to honor Jeff Scales, a longtime, deeply committed volunteer.

Eligible applicants: Mid-Hudson Valley high school or college students enrolled in the academic year 2024. High school seniors are especially encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants are invited to apply regardless of race, ethnicity, national origin, sexual orientation, or disability.

Preference will be given to applicants who:

- Have shown a commitment to sustainable agriculture, food justice, agritourism, environmental studies, nutrition and health, food science, and/or a related field.
- Are residents of the Mid-Hudson Valley and plan to return to the area after graduating to advance the purpose of the scholarship.

These two scholarships will be awarded to a qualified candidates selected by the Rhinebeck Farmers' Market scholarship committee. These scholarships will be paid directly to the recipient and therefore should not reduce other financial aid rewards.
